

Reporting hate activity in Durham Region

The Durham Region Anti-Racism Taskforce (DRART) stands firmly against all forms of hate activity and urges anyone who witnesses or experiences an incident or crime motivated by hate/bias to report it to Durham Regional Police Service (DRPS).

The Region of Durham and DRPS are committed to making the region a safe place, free of hate, to live, work and play.

How can I report hate activity?

- Call 9-1-1 if there is an emergency or an immediate threat to life/property.
- For non-emergencies call 905-579-1520.

What happens next?

DRPS will conduct an investigation, assigning it an occurrence number. Record this number and the DRPS officer’s contact details for any follow-up on the investigation.

Why report hate activity?

- Enhance safety and prevent future incidents.
- Hold perpetrators accountable.
- Raise awareness.
- Receive support and resources.
- Create more inclusive communities.

Visit durham.ca/DRART to learn more about Durham Region Anti-Racism Taskforce.

To learn more about hate/bias motivated crimes or incidents, or DRPS, visit www.drps.ca/HateCrime.

